Energy Performance Contract Jefferson County Public Library

Jefferson County Public Library participated in an energy audit program offered by the Governor's Energy Office. Based upon the recommendations of the audit, Jefferson County Public Library implemented several upgrades that increased energy efficiencies at the Belmar and Lakewood libraries, as well as the administration office, and increased the sustainability of these buildings.

In the first year after the improvements are complete, the library system expects to realize more than $145,000 in energy savings county-wide.
